
Sue Whitbread

An industrial economist with extensive experience of the UK and international oil and gas and energy sectors.

Specialist expertise in developing and implementing strategy to build supply chain capacity and regional infrastructure in high value growth markets including: Caspian Region, Russia, Africa and South America.

Proven track record in structuring new business ventures and facilitating partnerships for contactors, manufacturers and commodity suppliers ranging from major corporations to SMEs.

Combines in depth knowledge of UK sector capability and international technology trends with a strong commercial understanding of the success and risk factors that determine the industry's competitive landscape.

Leadership of a multidiscipline team of highly experienced industry experts delivering practical advice and support.